What is AIM?

First of all, congratulations! Out of the many students at King Middle School, only a few were selected as qualifying for what we look for in a potential AIM student. Your teachers believe you have what it takes to eventually succeed at the college level!

AIM is an elective class offered at King Middle School modeled after the AVID program. AIM stands for Achievement by Internal Motivation, and is basically the best class ever. AIM students will learn how to be more organized, set and work toward academic and personal goals, form a positive relationship with teachers, prepare for life and college, research careers they are interested in, and become effective public speakers. Students in the AIM program have access to guest speakers from various careers, and take a yearly field trip to a local college or university.
